Murray Bartlow

I believe in the administration and in the faculty of our school and I feel that much can be done to reach our goals by working with . . . not against them.

I feel that I am well qualified to be a senator. I believe that I will do a good job and represent our class well. I can be trusted with responsibility as shown when I was elected treasurer of my high school class.

One of the changes that I would like to make is in the dress code. Among other areas, I think that both men and women ought to be able to wear shorts with hems to classes and to Saga. Also, I think that girls should be allowed to wear dress slacks to chapel if they wish.

If elected, I promise to do my best in every issue. I hold my Christian commitment of highest priority, and I promise to do what I believe Christ would have me do in every affair.

Changes for Student life:

1. Book Store Revisions: lower costs, and stock, more practical items.
2. Dorms: reconsider late minutes, and consider more open houses.
3. Dress Code: Shorts (neat and clean) on campus and in Saga; girls' slacks in chapel on very cold days.
4. More Student oriented social events (i.e., campus devotionals, skating, movies, picnics, etc.).
5. More student vote on issues.
6. Recruitment and keeping students that are already here.
7. Information provided to the students on opportunities for student involvement.

Academic Changes:

1. More student representation.

Jan Carlson

QUALIFICATIONS:

1. Member of Publications Board.

PLATFORM:

1. There is a greater need for communication between students and their senators. Students need to be informed about issues. I'm willing to work with the other senators to have more surveys and questionnaires as a valuable means of receiving each student's desires and opinions concerning senate issues.
2. As your senator I would speak out and be heard, as well as listen to your opinions, and represent you.
3. We need a female representative in the senate. Out of three fresh man male senators, two lived off campus, and one in Chapman, leaving Morrison unrepresented.

Meeting the needs of the student body:

1. The three branches of ASNNC government need to work together to meet your needs.
2. I would be open-minded and willing to support your desires, by working out satisfactory ways of changing things where change is wanted and needed such as dorm hours vs. pass-key system, or funds to change

Recruitment:

1. NNC should continue representation booths at NHA, YFC, and NYPS conventions.
2. Expand and give financial support to CWB groups to involve recruitment as well as sharing Jesus with others.

Mike Cullum

In choosing a senator I feel that it is essential to note that the choice be of a person and not of a platform or system of changes. This person should be the candidate whom you feel is best qualified to represent you and make decisions in your behalf. He should be willing to work the long hard hours that are necessary to bring about constructive change, and not be negligent of his duties to his class, his school, and his own conscience.

I feel that I possess the qualities necessary to be a good senator. I would strive, if elected, toward constructive change, aimed at the betterment of this institution and the furthering of the Christian ideals which it represents.

Dennis Johnson

There comes a time in the evolution of a government, when there are those who believe that the only thing left to do is work with it. This point has not been reached at NNC and probably never will be. The philosophies of governments and their functions dare not stagnate; they cannot become stale.

In the past year I have been inexperienced in the senate -- yet I've learned. I have learned that I am you and we must be represented and stand up for what we believe in. I have learned that the individual is the most important element in my society or organization, and the government of the students at NNC is no exception. I have learned that the senate is challenged with the task of obtaining defrost from its constituents, a defrost that results in constituents informing senate and conversely a senate informing constituents. As individuals we are the important element that makes it work. I want to sweat and toil with you to better our government.

Dan Scharff

QUALIFICATIONS:

Having served as a senator for one year, I am acquainted with the procedure that must be followed in student government to accomplish an objective. I have worked with most of the executive officers, and have had experience with organizing class social activities.

PLATFORM:

1. Academics: The students of NNC, should have more representation in our academic program. It would be very beneficial for NNC to have students present at the monthly meetings of the six academic divisions.
2. Student-faculty committees should be functioning at their full potential by filling them with concerned and qualified students and by requiring the student members to keep close contact with the senate and all students.

3. Social life should be a high priority in budgeting so that ASNNC can sponsor more excellent concerts, films, and social activities.
4. The Spiritual life of our campus should always be a senator's top priority. He should be a spiritual leader on campus and his decisions made in the senate should reflect his concern for the student life of our campus.

Ken Schmidt

NNC is indeed a fulfillment of the basic needs of most people. It gives them the opportunity to grow physically, mentally, socially and spiritually. One of the most important areas of growing is deciding what you will learn, and how you will use your spare time. Student government, in both the ASNNC and in student members of student-faculty committees, is the most effective way we have as students to influence not only social, but academic and spiritual policy as well.

We need to begin to work toward the kingdom college NNC was established to be, to build strong Christians to live in, and influence, the world around us. It is this goal that the members of student government should apply to all actions taken and will be the basis for my actions next year in the senate.

Four seek Senior Senate positions

Joe Childs

A student senator should be an average "Joe" representing the students with the confidence in judgement that the students allow him. A senator is but one of the many senior class members of next year. Yet he is a senator on the basis of his leadership and ability to make judgement in the best interest of those he is representing.

I am no more than an average Joe who has tried to be informed and involved. In our own freshman year I was somewhat awed by the system as a bystander. During our sophomore year I was able to serve you as a co-chaplain. This year I am serving the students as treasurer on the Student/Faculty Appeals Board.

Leadership is needed in the many facets of budgeting. Organizations such as forensics need enough money to inspire them to raise the rest. Senate leadership is needed in selecting qualified students for student/faculty committees. Leadership is needed in the many other aspects of government, such as a proper balance of powers. It takes an average "Joe" to sense and to communicate the leadership of the class.

Bob Curl

Historically, some senior senators have been noted for their lack of activity and participation. I believe anyone who has been elected by popular vote of his class has the duty to aggressively participate in the actions of student government. We are paying our student fees and should have an active voice in the workings of the government supported by those fees.

Transferring from a college that allowed the students to choose their own chapel seating, I know this works and see no reason why it should not be implemented here. ASNNC funding should be examined closely. Everyone is required to pay their fees, yet not everyone receives equal benefit. I do not mean that nothing should be funded unless it benefits everyone, but student funding should benefit, directly or indirectly, a significant number of persons.

Late minute fines are also too stiff. Perhaps a graduated system could be devised which would increase with time, but reduce the cost for someone who is only five or ten minutes late.

Library hours are another point. After all the work has been done to open the library on Friday night, we now find the library is open one half hour less than before.

I feel these and other issues need our attention, and would appreciate the chance to work on them.

Dan Flowers

My 'platform' is basically the same as Ron Galloway's in his campaign for president; however, it is greatly tempered by Randy Morgan's ideas. Therefore, since you probably remember these fine individuals' ideas, I will not bother to regurgitate them for you. My reason for running is not based on these ideas anyway. I am worried about what is happening to students on NNC's campus.

Far too often NNC teaches students to compromise themselves out of existence. Anyone that is different is frowned upon and isolated. If a student does not think, act, and exist like everyone else, he probably is a subversive element and should be watched closely. If a student tends to want to become something that is only self-satisfying and not practical, he is heavily discouraged. We all must come out the same.

I am not pointing a finger at NNC's faculty. The problem really lies with us, the average NNC student. How do we treat "weirdos?" Do we try to understand why they are different or do we laugh at them behind their backs and stay as far away as possible?

We at NNC need to examine ourselves and see what kind of witness we really present to an "out-sider." Do we present Christ or do we only show a legalistic face? Do we allow people to develop into their full potential or do we tend to force stereotypes?

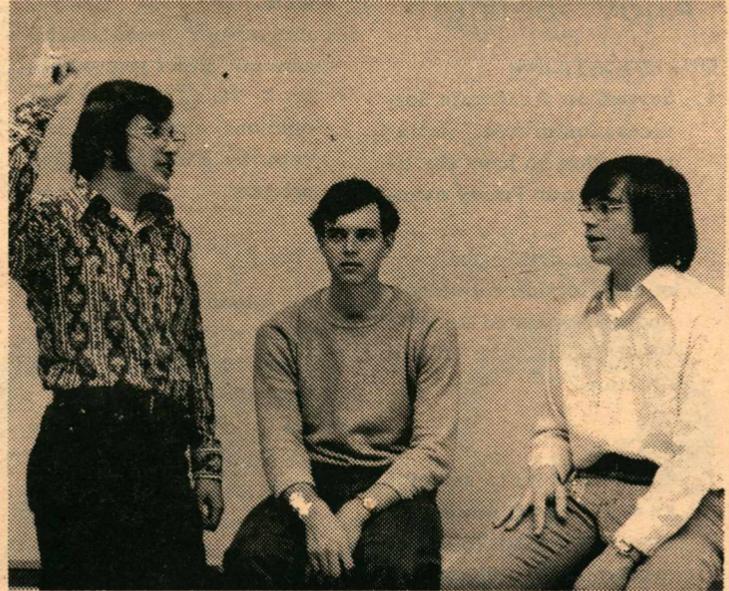

I want to be elected senator so that I can have a chance to do and say something about this in a meaningful way.

Tim Godbey

I am running for senior class senator because I want to get involved in student government. I want to serve the senior class in some constructive way. I feel that I can best serve in this manner. I can say that I enjoy student government.

The issues I would like to bring up would be:

1. Bring before the Student Life Committee a resolution to see if there is some way we can get the dorm code changed to meet the students' demands.

Bob Curl, Tim Godbey, and Joe Childs discuss their plans for the Senate. Dan Flowers, the other senior Senatorial candidate, is not pictured.

2. The budget is of particular interest, especially look into organizations such as Model U.N., Forensics and AWS.
3. As a Christian and attending a Christian college, I believe that Chapel should be included in the student's day. But I would propose that if we had chapel four days one week we should only have two chapels the next week.

My idea of student government is to bring government to the student in order to enable the student to participate in the activities therein. I believe that the administration, faculty and students must work together to have a profitable year. I do not feel the student government should be the weakest of the three. Let's work together and have a profitable year.

I'd appreciate your vote Friday and thanks for your support.

Five aspire to be Junior Senators

Andy Bennett

QUALIFICATIONS:

1. Served on Academic Services Committee. Initiated action to have the library open on Friday evenings.
2. Served as acting chairman of the election committee and administrated the 1973 ASNNC Executive officers election.

PLATFORM:

1. If elected I will survey a sampling of the class at regular intervals to determine majority opinion on specific issues and vote accordingly.
2. Society meetings should not be required as chapel attendance. The senate is able to at least initiate action to eliminate such requirement.
3. The ASNNC budget should be reevaluated, giving partial funding to Model United Nations and Forensics, and limiting the executive officers' travel budget.
4. A legal aid service should be instituted as soon as possible.

6. As a senator I would maintain my direct responsibility to the class and their opinions, and keep the concept of a Kingdom College primary.

Terry Mattson

It is important that you not only know who I am, but what I believe in. Thus as a candidate for Junior Class Senator, I believe we must begin moving in four New Directions.

PLATFORM:

1. The open dorm policy should be liberalized and relaxed to include several visiting hours every week on a given day (i.e. - every Sunday afternoon.
2. Four things should be done to improve the disciplinary system.
  - A. Another student member should be added to the Student Life Executive Committee.
  - B. The Dean of Men and Dean of Women should be removed from the SLEC and replaced by two other administrators.

- C. We should cooperate with the Administration to try to complete the "procedures of investigation" that will delineate the rights of students who are being investigated by the SIEC (i.e. -the right to have only facts related to the charges against you be presented during the trial).
  - D. Information should be given to all students explaining the disciplinary system and the rights that students have in relation to it.
3. Students need a greater role in the academic process in two ways.
    - A. More student representation on the Academic Council, which is in charge of general academic policy (i.e. the new credit system).
    - B. Student representation on the divisional and departmental councils.
  4. I personally support the abolition of Women's Dorm Hour's and the establishment of a pass key system.

The junior class Senate race is being contested by Andy Bennett, J.D. Stewart, Darlene Wood, and Terry Mattson.

Mark Spencer

I believe the election of student senators should be based, not on a platform, but on which person will best represent the class.

Representation is not solely trying to reflect every turn of public opinion nor making decisions only on the basis of what you understand. It is combining these two processes to reflect both your constituency and the confidence they have placed in you.

I believe I can do this. I've had previous experience in student leadership and have kept close to the leaders and issues here at NNC.

J.D. Stewart

The main job of the student senate, and probably its biggest weakness, is making and keeping student services serving the student. The students this year have, unfortunately, had a non vocal senate. As a result, not much of what could be done has been done.

One of the services that has been looked into recently is the bookstore. If the bookstore is to serve the student, the senate is going to have to speak out and make itself heard. Through a recent investigation the senate has its foot in the door, but it must keep searching for ideas to make this student service more of a student service.

Areas that have not been looked into but need to be are the library and the student center. But of course, if the senate is to represent the students, each individual senator must represent his class.

I have tried to remain close to the sophomore class and to feel what they were thinking, both by asking questions and just listening, especially when you thought I was not listening. I've tried to serve this year and I will try, if elected, to serve next year.

Darlene Wood

A senator is a representative of the whole class who relays the ideas and feelings of a class to the center of student government.

Since entering NNC I've been an active part of our class, observing and listening along with everyone else.

We've seen changes in dress code, dorm hours and the addition of the third branch of government. These changes have brought us up to date and have established good standards in keeping with what NNC is all about.

I feel that the need for executive representation is a constant necessity. I have no new promises or platform-just a dedication to our class to serve effectively as a bridge between our class and the executive officers, that both might work together for the good of NNC and what it stands for.

associated student government

by Randy Morgan
 ASNNC President-elect

Now that the campaign is over it is time to get down to the job at hand. And what a job it proves to be! I am looking forward to the coming year with eager anticipation. We are now in a time when everyone in the campus community is working together for NNC. I trust this will continue next year.

The slogan for my campaign was "Serving Together." This is what I want for next year. It will take the cooperation of the whole campus.

Student government at NNC has excellent relations with the college administration. The administration realizes and accepts the fact that ASNNC does not always agree with it. Student government realizes this also and understands that somewhere, someone must make the final decision on a subject. This is one of the many ways that the student government serves the students. It has been doing a fine job in this way under the able leadership of Chuck Wilkes; I will continue to do the best I can in the future.

The students as a whole also come into the picture. The Executive Officers will need the help of every student in the area of student-to-student recruitment, social life, and the everyday functions of student government of special and student faculty committees.

I ask you to become involved in these areas that are so important to the success of student government and the feeling on our campus as a whole.

Some may ask the question, "How do I get involved?" One way is Operation Satisfaction. Community Relations Vice-president Barry Grant is working in this area and he can use all the help he can get in the area of tutoring, the friendship program, or the community action program. Social Vice-president Randy Vorce is open to your ideas for the social life on our campus. He will also need help in the operation of the social activities. These are but a few of the ways for you to be involved with the actions of our campus.

The Executive Officers are willing to be of help to you. Feel free to ask any of them about the areas in which they work. Your input is necessary for us to truly "Serve Together."

by Tim Wheatley

Unbelief, disobedience, and hardening of heart are directly involved with one's conscious choice of alternatives. In order to understand this, one must believe that God reveals Himself to men. The great fact implied is that God speaks to men.

God can speak through the written scripture, especially in the life and teachings of Jesus recorded therein. He can speak through Christian ministries. He can speak through the voice of our conscience. God can speak through the events of His providence. He can speak through the laughter of children. He can speak through the beauty of a flower.

God speaks and offers His rest. Some believe and some refuse to believe. When God speaks, the one spoken to cannot ignore or deny what God commands without a hardening, and deadening effect upon his spiritual sensibilities.

The choice of response can be likened to the reaction of ice and clay under the intense heat of the sun on a hot summer day. The block of ice melts while the lump of clay becomes as a rock. The differences in the natures and responses of the objects determines the effects of the sun rays. So it is with different persons' response to God's leading in their life.

When God speaks, obedience is required. When one disobeys, he refuses to believe and the hardening process begins. Spiritual atrophy can be experienced at times because hardening of the heart due to the deceitfulness of sin.

Hardness of the heart is easily disguised. It may be called prudence. It may be called devotion to duty. It may be called accomplishment.

It is important to daily keep the channels of communication with God open. One cannot obey God if he does not take the time to listen and provide the opportunities for Him to speak.

NNC choirs to appear on television

Performance of Bach's Magnificat by NNC's Concert and Crusader Choirs and the Boise Philharmonic will be aired on television this Sunday.

This work, which was completed in January, will be released on Channel 7, Boise, and Channel 13, LaGrande, at 8:30 p. m.

Other releases in Idaho will be on April 12 at 5 p. m. in Idaho Falls and on April 24 at 9 p. m. in Twin Falls.

The television appearance of the choirs is being made possible in part by a grant from the Idaho Arts and Humanities Commission.

Visitors register comments about exhibit in Fine Arts Building.

Old Bergen Art Guild

Paintings receive praise

by Connie Helt

The art lover will find ample satisfaction for his enthusiasm as he views the Marie Wilner paintings now on exhibit in the Foyer of the Fine Arts Building. Sponsored by the Old Bergen Art Guild of New Jersey, the exhibit has been on the NNC campus since April 5. All paintings are for sale.

Mrs. Wilner's style is a striking mixture of both abstract and impressionistic elements ranging from the cool, nostalgic serenity of "In the Park," to the blistering orange harshness of "Northern Sunset." Some of the paintings such as "The Everglades," are extremely impressionistic, while others, such as "Western Salt Flats," are so abstract that one would be lost in identifying the subject without the title.

Mrs. Wilner does not seem to prefer any particular colors, as the dozen paintings on display are done in browns, reds, and brilliant greens, with bold strokes of gold and scarlet throughout, to create odd plays of sunlight, or curious shadows. Mrs. Wilner does have her own particular technique, however. She paints with oils on paper, rather than on canvas which creates an interesting texture.

Near the display is a guest book in which visitors are invited to write personal comments. Upon reading the comments, this writer noted that a few of the viewers seemed to be especially taken with "Symphony in Green," and "Spring," two startling, green compositions. The most frequently used adjective in the visitors' comments were "impressed," or "impressing."

One or two of the comments were extraordinarily thoughtful, but the bravest must have been this: "Interesting . . . I'm glad our northern sunsets really aren't like that."

The paintings will be on display through tomorrow.

Singer Gene Cotton to give folk concert

ASNNC will present Gene Cotton in concert, Tuesday, May 1, in Montgomery P.E. Building. Gene has recently released his latest album, "In the Gray of the Morning."

Cotton is a well-known folk singer, having sung on college and high school campuses across the United States, as well as in the Orient. His artistry and creativity is known to reflect the basic honesty and sincerity of the person, the writer, and the performer.

The artist got his start in small folk music clubs in the Midwest in 1962 while attending Ohio State University. He

Ambassador to address convocation

American ambassador to Kuwait, John Patrick Walsh will be Monday's Issue and Answers Convocation speaker.

After entering the foreign service in 1948, Walsh served in Ireland, Norway, Canada, Iran, as well as Kuwait, and is presently diplomat in residence at Washington State University.

The ambassador attended the University of Illinois and Catholic University, and in 1958 received a Ph.D. from the University of Chicago.

The concert is set for 8 p. m. Tickets are $1 in advance, $1.50 at the door and may be purchased at the NNC Bookstore.

Quizzers compete

College Bowl began April 5 with six teams entered. The contests have been jump quizzes because the electronic light system isn't functioning correctly, but the competition has been tough and sometimes rather lively.

After eight of the fifteen scheduled quizzes, the Mangum and Oxford teams are undefeated. The Crusader team lost to Mangum Tuesday evening for its only loss, and the same evening the LSP team defeated the Spirit Freaks 115 to 105 for their first win. Both the Spirit Freaks and the Circle K have yet to win.

Quizzes will not be held next week because of midterm exams, but Monday, April 13, all of the teams will be competing in the Inn beginning at 7:00.

Two dramatic performances and a debate will be presented this term by the Contest Speech class mentored by Mrs. Thompson as Reader's Theatre makes its debut on the NNC campus.

"Adam and Eve" and a selection from "Winnie the Pooh" are two of the humorous selections which will be read Tuesday, May 1, in the first performance. This program will be centered around mankind's humorous experiences.

"You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown," is this spring's presentation by the Northwest Nazarene College Northwesterners. The program will be presented May 3, 4, and 5, at 8:00 p.m. in the Science Lecture Hall.

The roles of the familiar Peanuts characters will be filled by members of the Northwesterners. Charlie Brown is being played by David Wilcoxson, Lucy by Bette Dale, Patty by Becky Marsh, Schroeder by John Newberry, Linus by Randy Morgan, and Snoopy by Jeff Weisen.

Tickets are $1.00 for students and $1.50 for adults, on sale in the NNC Bookstore and at the door.

Students to attend coming conventions

NNC students will participate in The Christian Holiness Association Convention, the National Evangelical Association Convention and the Nazarene Student Leadership Conference in the next two weeks.

The Holiness Convention will be held in Portland April 25-27 and will be attended by Kevin Holland, Bob Iness, Randy Maddox, Pam Meidling and Bonnie Woodbeck.

The Evangelical Convention May 1-3, will also be held in Portland. Representing NNC will be Randy Bynum, Jim Franklin, Terry Ketchum, and Louis Lenker.

The NSLC conference will be held at the Circle C Ranch outside Kansas City. The ranch is the property of Campus Crusade for Christ. The outgoing and incoming Presidents and Vice-Presidents, Chuck Wilkes, Randy Morgan, Ron Galloway and Randy Maddox will be attending as voting members. Also making the trip will be Kay Smith, Randy Peterman, and Randy Craker. The conference will be held April 26 and 27.

NNC visited by crowd

Prospective Student Day this year yielded a record attendance. Nearly 1100 sponsors and high school students visited the campus during the two-day event.

Activities included class visitation, a special chapel service, and a Stage Band concert.

Another activity held during Senior Day, although not officially a part of the activities, was the regional Bible quizzing. This was brought to an exciting finish as the Idaho-Oregon District nosed out the Alaska District on the final question of competition.

Karate club wins Glenn Harmaning earns black belt

A surprised Glen Harmaning was awarded black belt status at the Twin Falls karate tournament last Saturday.

In 1969, when Harmaning was only a blue belt, he expressed a desire to be promoted by Ho-Sensei Tabosa, the founder of the Kaji Kumi school of karate, should he ever earn a black belt rating. Last Saturday evening saw his wish fulfilled.

Harmaning placed first in the orange-brown belt division of sparring competition. Other high finishers in this category for NNC were Dan Edwards third and J.D. Stewart fourth in the yellow-blue-green belt division, and Charlie Spencer (from Nampa High) fourth in the white belt division.

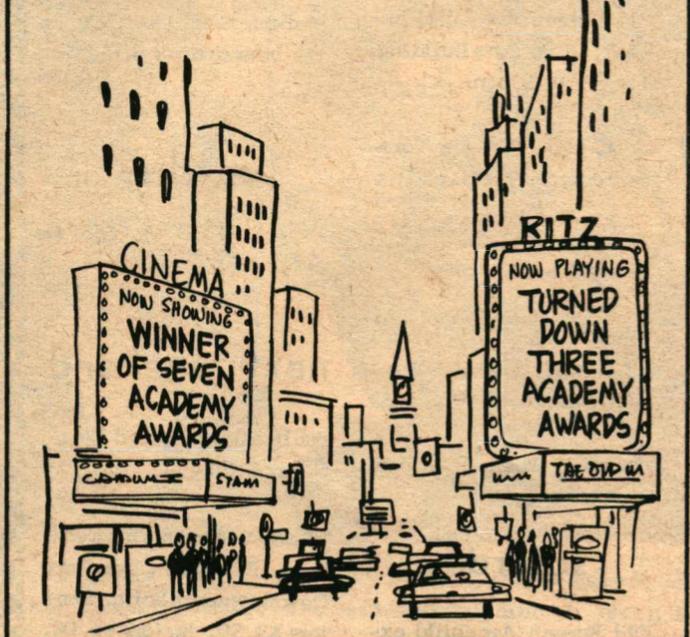

In kata competition Stewart, Charlene Harrison and Colleen Kelly swept the first three places in the yellow belt division. Randy Bynum took second in the blue-green belt division. NNC won the group kata competition.

Spencer captured the coveted sportsmanship trophy. An unofficial honor came from Master Tabosa, who complimented NNC on her superior kata and excellent fighting ability.

NNC track team takes second in Invitational

by Rod Leupp

Last Saturday's NNC Invitational track meet became the Ontario Invitational after a deluge of rain left the Nampa High School track under several inches of water. Once on their home track the Treasure Valley Community College Chukars avenged their April 7 loss to the Crusaders. The final point tally was TVCC 64, NNC 57 1/2, Oregon Technical Institute 28, and College of Idaho 13 1/2.

NNC's chances for victory in the meet were hampered early when Bob Jackson pulled up lame with a hamstring muscle pull during the first event, the 440 yard relay. The Crusaders placed second in that relay, but without Jackson they managed only a third by Carl Cady in the 440 yard dash. The mile relay also suffered because of Jackson's absence, and had to settle for second.

On the brighter side, NNC produced the only double winners of the day. Dave Mangum won both the 100 and 220 yard dash, and Steve Wolfe did well in his specialty, taking the long and triple jumps. Wolfe also took second in the 220 and tied for second in the century. Other winners for NNC were Rob Edwards in the three mile run, Dick Huling in the 880 yard dash, and Jerry Harris in the 440 yard intermediate hurdles. Dean Cook improved in the shot put and placed second.

Tony Grant of Oregon Tech set the only new NNC Invitational meet record with a javelin throw of 229 feet 6 inches. Next Crusader track and field action is tonight under the lights at Nampa High School. Field events begin at 6:30 p.m. with running events to follow at 7:00 p.m.

Westerburg to defend meet title

Tim Westerburg represented NNC in the Boise State Invitational Golf Meet last Thursday and Friday. Westerburg managed to place in the top 15 finishers among the 55 competitors from the nine schools represented.

Weber State captured the team trophy, followed closely by the College of Idaho. The medalist from Weber State tore up the course with scores of 70 and 68, finishing seven strokes ahead of the rest of the pack.

Westerburg was the only participant from NNC in this top-level competition. He wasn't overly pleased with his showing, (77-76) saying he played generally good golf but just couldn't sink the putts.

Tomorrow NNC's golfers will be hitting the Purple Sage Golf Course in Caldwell for the Idaho-Oregon Invitational. Westerburg is the defending medalist for this meet.

Ring enlarged to show detail.
